

I would like to protest Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

Sinclair is not serving the public interest by broadcasting this material as 'news.' If they are allowed to broadcast this material, they should, at a minimum, offer the Kerry organization equal time in a comparable time slot, preempting regular broadcasting.

I understand that Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Showing this material, which may be libelous, does not serve the public interest.

Sinclair's actions are an excellent example of the reason why the FCC needs to strengthen media ownership rules.
